Dear Wendy,

My primary reason for writing is to express my deep appreciation to you for referring me to Paul Shimek following my auto accident. From the first time we met, I felt such a relief from the monumental efforts I felt would have been required to maneuver the insurance system. He took over all responsibility for communicating with the insurance company, for handling the mathematical equations and legal and financial negotiations, and for follow-up communications which will continue even after receipt of the final settlement due to related government regulations.

I'm sincerely impressed with his negotiating skill, legal expertise, ability to elicit numerous details from involved parties, his uncanny sense of how and when to make use of those innumerable details in negotiating the settlement, and his calm, always pleasant, self-assured, and re-assuring manner.

You have my permission to use this information in any referrals you may want to make to Paul. As you already know, the fact that this is the only kind of lawsuit he handles keeps his energy concentrated in this area and assures that he keeps up-to-date with related legal and government regulations.

Perhaps most important throughout this process has been the trust he has inspired in me by reporting, in a timely and organized way, each step of the legal process along the way and, even more important, the strong sense of integrity and reliability he projects.

I can't tell you how much I appreciate you, the work that PowerCore does, and the individual members who make it such a valuable resource in our community.

I hope to see you before long.
Love, Dianna
