

From: Sallie Boyles sallie@writelady.com
Subject: Testimonial
Date: January 26, 2015 at 2:06 PM
To: Chris Handley chrishandleydesign@comcast.net

Hi Chris,

Use whatever you want:

Like the cobbler's kid who didn't have shoes, I needed a fresh appearance for my website and blog, as well as a reliable, user-friendly content management system for both. Having worked with Chris on clients' projects, I knew he had a great eye for design, the expertise to build the site properly, and an affordable pricing structure. Above all, I knew I could count on his integrity. As his client, I would learn just how valuable Chris could be as a resource. He prompted me to remain on task (I was writing my own content!) so that my website was up and running on schedule; he guided me to a more reliable blog host, which I love; and he encouraged me to take responsibility for certain tasks, like uploading content and transferring my old Wordpress blog to Tumblr. Chris handled whatever was necessary and would have done more, but by giving me the option of accomplishing certain jobs myself, he not only saved me money, but he also left me with much more control over my online communications. Oh, and I love the professional headshot he took of me! On top of everything, Chris is always patient, pleasant and professional. I highly recommend his services.

Take care,
Sallie
Sallie W. Boyles
Write Lady Inc.
www.writelady.com
404.217.3236