To whom it may concern,

For those who don't know, prior to his law career with real estate and estate planning, John Kimbell practiced law in a courtroom setting. He never lost a case.

John recently reprised his role as a defense attorney to represent me in the case filed against me by my wedding planner during the COVID-19 pandemic. John prepared me for what to expect during the process from beginning to end. No question I asked was ever too silly. I cannot begin to express my gratitude to John for that guidance, counsel, and the reassurances he gave me through what was a very stressful situation.

The case was dismissed.

John Kimbell, thank you for everything. Thank you for the levity you bring with you in everything. Your humor and confidence enabled me to look back on the entire experience with a sense of calm. You repeatedly told me that our court date was going to be "fun", and, as much as I failed to believe you beforehand, now that it's finally behind me, it actually was a bit "fun". I'm so glad you get to keep your "Undefeated" status.

With my utmost respect and appreciation,

Gillian J. Crane, D.C.
