RE: Tricia Molloy, Molloy Communications

One of the most valuable ways I have found to promote and grow my business has been through the use of testimonials. When left up to myself to get these through our company process, testimonials were sporadic because it required a lot of effort from my clients.

Working with Tricia to get testimonials is easy for me and my clients. She is extremely effective at helping my clients articulate their positive experience with me and our company. A professional that makes me look good. I highly recommend her services to anyone who understands the value of sharing the experiences of the clients they serve with a larger audience.

An example of Tricia's work is the testimonial below.

Sincerely,

"Time and again, Jonathan has proven himself to be our go-to guy. Twenty-five years ago, he helped my husband and me finance our first home. Then, when we built our dream home, he helped us with the construction loan and mortgage. Recently, we downsized and he financed that home. Jonathan is very personable and professional. More than a lender, he's a trusted advisor who I highly recommend."
