RE: Jericho Landress/Integrity Construction Services

Jericho,

I am writing to thank you for your help with my daughter's home. As a first time homebuyer, she recently purchased this home and knew she was taking on a big project. It was difficult finding contractors for her projects because there were many smaller items that needed to be completed. You were patient, thorough, and were able to explain everything to her and most of all, you were able to take care of everything on the list.

There is a lot of responsibility when referring provider to your daughter. It takes a lot of trust and I wanted to thank you for going above and beyond our expectations. I will recommend you and your company with confidence in the future. Thank you!
