Dear Jackie,

I'm writing this letter to express my deepest appreciation for everything you did for my husband, Vince, and me as we searched for—and ultimately purchased—our first home together.

There is certainly no shortage of realtors out there, but I know one thing with complete confidence: we got the very best when we chose Jackie Campbell!

From start to finish, you demonstrated the highest level of professionalism. At the same time, you guided us through the entire process with the care, patience, and support of a true friend. That combination is rare, and it's one of the many reasons our home-buying experience was so memorable.

Before we met you, we had been searching online using what we thought were the right criteria—specific location, square footage, number of bedrooms, a single-story home, lot size... all the usual things buyers focus on. Your expertise became evident during our very first conversation when you showed us how making a few thoughtful adjustments to our search criteria could actually help us find the home we were truly looking for.

I still remember you explaining why the size of the lot wasn't nearly as important as the way the lot was laid out around the house. It was advice we never would have considered on our own.

One thing we especially appreciated was your communication. Every step of the process was explained clearly, so we always knew what to expect next. We know we weren't your only client, but you always made us feel like we were. You answered our calls, responded promptly to our questions, and always had the information or reassurance we needed.

What impressed us even more were the countless little things you did that we never expected. You stood beside us during our walkthrough, helping us place blue tape where touch-ups were needed, and even pointed out improvements we should prioritize if we ever decide to sell in the future. Those small moments spoke volumes about your experience, attention to detail, and genuine desire to help us make smart decisions—not just for today, but for years to come.

Thank you for helping us find a home that we truly love. We may still have a few boxes left to unpack, but every day we're reminded how grateful we are that you were there to guide us through the journey.

You were an absolute pleasure to work with, and Vince and I wholeheartedly recommend you to anyone looking for a knowledgeable, trustworthy, and caring realtor.

With sincere thanks,

Cory Cook Anderson
