Dear Greg:

Several months ago, I referred a client to you. GKJ is an old friend of mine who was in the process of splitting up with his wife and filing for divorce. It was a very complicated and contentious matter and GKJ, although once solvent, did not have the funds to retain you. Nevertheless, you immediately contacted him and spoke to him at length regarding the issues he faced.

Not only did you take time out of your busy schedule to speak with GKJ, you did so gratis. He has told me of numerous telephone conversations that you had with him, for which you did not charge. Unfortunately, GKJ decided to represent himself and when his first status conference approached, he contacted you again for additional advice, which you graciously gave. Things did not go well for GKJ at the hearing as a Pro Se litigant. Fortunately, he saw the light, and scraped together the funds in order to retain your services.

Within weeks, you were able to diffuse an extremely contentious situation, and reached a settlement agreement with his wife's attorney. Considering the facts and circumstances surrounding this matter, that was a monumental accomplishment. I spoke to GKJ just a few days ago and he was unbelievably grateful for what you have done for him.

This is how PowerCore works. I sent a referral to you and you jumped on it immediately. Not only did you help my friend reach a successful conclusion to a nasty matter, but you assisted him on numerous occasions without sending him a bill. I cannot thank you enough for what you did for him. You are an excellent attorney, and counselor, and I wholeheartedly endorse your services.

Very truly yours,

Mark W. Thomas
