Dear Future Client of The Wellness Connection,

My experience as a client of Dr. Carolina Tillotson's has been nothing short of incredible. Her care is extremely professional, and she holds space in our time together that is specifically about me, my body, and my life. This is important for me to share because Dr. Carolina and I share many of the same friends, networking groups, and fun personal events. Although I have mentioned several times that I am a client of The Wellness Connection and, overjoyed with excitement, exclaim the benefits I've received, Dr. Carolina always keeps the fact that I see her confidential—even in front of people that I've already told. This is just one aspect of the professionalism and credibility that her company displays.

Dr. Carolina takes time before our session to ask me how my body is that day, and if there is anything I need to share with her. This gives me the opportunity to set an intention with her for our session. She then addresses my needs and also her findings as a professional. After our adjustment, she asks how I feel, reports her findings and what she was able to address, as well as gives me tips for continuing wellness with my body.

She hosts fabulous workshops with incredible guest speakers that are relevant to my goals and the goals of her high performing clients. She's even allowed me to participate as a guest speaker so that her audience could connect to their inner creativity and participate in a fun painting activity with me! This was a great opportunity for my business. Her inclusion, business sense, role in the local community, and ability to share her gifts and help clients on many different levels is astounding. She cares deeply about everyone and it shows in her business. If you haven't seen Dr. Carolina yet, make sure you participate with The Wellness Connection in some way, whether that be attending one of her events or even better, visiting her for a consultation!

Sincerely,
