RE: RevLocal

I would like to endorse Michael Morse and RevLocal. My wife and I practice functional medicine. We are not a part of any networks, therefore we have to advertise and educate the public about our services. We have tried all types of advertising. We have had the most success with Google in the past. RevLocal and Michael are experts at maximizing Google advertising. Adding RevLocal to our advertising budget has been one of the best decisions that we have made along with joining PowerCore.

Michael has worked with my wife, who is the head of our marketing. He immediately connected us with their medical department headed by Leah. She has been so attentive and accommodating to my wife, who can sometimes be a little demanding. She routinely schedules a monthly call to update us on our progress and recommends future efforts.

We have spent a lot of money with digital and online advertising companies that promise a lot and deliver very little. My wife and I were very skeptical when we decided to use RevLocal. The fact that there was not a contract and we only paid month to month relieved some of our anxiety. RevLocal has exceeded our expectations and delivered everything that was promised and more.

The ultimate endorsement came when my wife said to me RevLocal has been worth every penny. There is no greater endorsement.
