To Whom It May Concern:

I had a problem with ants. I mean, they weren't carrying off my furniture, but they were all over the kitchen. My wife and I tried everything we could think of: cleaning, ant traps, windex, more cleaning, etc. But we never were able to completely contain the steady stream of invaders that were plundering our pantry.

So we called Early Bird Pest Control, and let me tell you what a difference it made. The gentleman who showed up was clean cut and polite. My wife had asked me to stay home because she didn't know if she would be comfortable with someone in the house without me there. After meeting their technician, however, she was completely at ease. He was knowledgeable, efficient, and didn't mind me following him around the house talking to him about Star Wars while he worked.

The best part? The ants stopped THAT DAY. After weeks of frustration Early Bird solved the problem in one shot. Thanks Early Bird. I definitely recommend these guys to anyone looking for a reliable and effective home pest control service.
