Dear Kevin,

Thanks for the great job you did shooting my client Howard Silvermintz for his new website.

It was important that the pictures of Howard not only be professional but also show him as approachable and caring in order to warm up the cold and impersonal nature of a typical insurance website. Doing this was essential at helping Howard's business stand out against the multitudes of insurance companies.

You not only delivered this, but you did it in a timely manner....You got it done within the same week that we contacted you. And when we were uncertain about the best place to take the photos you took charge and found the perfect location by scouting and getting permission from the building owners.

All along the way you kept me informed about the progress even though you were working mostly with Howard, which is greatly appreciated. This helped me stay on schedule in order to launch the site when we planned.

Thank you again for your communication, expertise and making the whole process easy and quick.
