Dear Dr. Kind:

Being constantly on my feet and leaning over to perform various spa treatments puts an extreme amount of stress and fatigue on my neck and back. Not to mention the fact that I was in a fender bender that caused even more fatigue on my neck. It also does not help to constantly hear others say, "Is there something wrong with your leg? Or it looks like you are walking with a limp."

When we met for our first coffee, I did not see the point in trying Chiropractic treatments or view them as necessary to carry out my everyday activities. However, you explained the different treatments to me clearly and effectively without down playing medical care. Your easy going, jovial, yet professional manner instantly encouraged trust and removed all traces of apprehension. The treatment plans and recommendations you provide are clear and easy to understand. Your adjustments seem effortless and are performed with an ease I have seen in few others. You bring care and sanity to your profession and that is something I truly appreciate.

I am so delighted by the treatment I have received. The fatigue in my neck has almost completely gone away. The amount of stress in my back and neck has greatly diminished and now I am able to work longer without feeling as tired. You demonstrate your skills constantly and I happily recommend you to anyone in need of your services without hesitation. You have my sincerest thanks for taking such good care of my spine.

With Sincere Gratitude,
