

To Anyone Who Owns A Home With A Garage Door:

My teenage son opened our garage door and neglected to tell us the horrible sound it had made. My wife noticed later that the door appeared "Off Track." Being resourceful, I recruited a handy neighbor. Armed with some gloves and pliers we tackled this job. This was the first of many mistakes.

Once we untangled the mess of metal cords, we underestimated the weight of the door and it slammed shaking the whole house. We immediately regretted "playing" with the tension cords and springs and luckily lost no fingers. A third, much wiser, neighbor came on scene and immediately observed, "Ya' got a broken spring."

I immediately called Kenny Cox of Discount Doors. He showed up timely, did an outstanding job (with proper experience and tools) and he and his staff were professionals in my home with his service. The price and value of parts and installation were a bargain to say the least. The bonus was that Kenny did not make me feel horrible for trying to tackle the job but advised and confirmed the danger in attempting an unexperienced quick fix. Our garage door now works perfectly and is remarkably much quieter than it was originally. Don't make hero decisions that are poor, call Kenny Cox with Discount Doors!

Please feel free to reach out to me directly if I can ever offer any assistance in generating a valuable referral connection to his outstanding services.

Do good and be well,
