To Whom It May Concern:

It took us years to finally find a great accounting firm to help us with our small business.

At first we tried to use friends who owned an accounting practice, but after a while, we realized their advice tended to get us in trouble. Then, we tried a couple more traditional practices, but they still lacked the attention and guidance we needed. For example, getting a simple call back for answers to questions proved next to impossible.

Finally, we found Killingsworth Spencer and they have helped us tremendously. They aided us in cleaning up many problems from the prior accountants and gave us proper advice for moving forward, so we can now avoid IRS issues in the future.

Thank you so much for your continued responsiveness and attention-to-detail!

Warm Regards,

Andrew P Jones, Jr.
