Dear Stacy,

A few months ago, my son and daughter-in-law decided that it was time for them to move into a larger home. Their family was growing, they would soon outgrow their current home, and they needed to move to a home in a better school district. When I asked if they planned to hire the realtor they had used previously, they were pretty non-committal, so I suggested that they talk to you. Even though they had already purchased a home, they had never sold one, as they had lived in an apartment before their first purchase.

Stacy, from the beginning of the process, you were patient and you answered ALL of their questions. You were so knowledgeable about what they should do to get their house in shape to get the best possible offer. I will forgive you for the fact that they almost filled up my basement in an effort to de-clutter, because as a result, they were able to sell in a matter of weeks, and they received their full asking price.

Step two – finding a new home – proved to be more of a challenge, but you and Pat were awesome once again. Because of the size home they were looking for, and their budget, it took a little while, but you found exactly what they needed. It is in a lovely neighborhood, just down the street from the elementary school and middle school that my grandchildren will attend. Needless to say, they are thrilled and so am I.

I will recommend your services again, without hesitation. It is wonderful to have a personal connection with someone who can help my family and friends with what is probably the largest purchase they will make.

Sincerely,

Eleanor L. Thompson
