

Life Balance Power

Linda Loud,
Mary Kay Consultant

Dear Linda,

Most people wouldn't think to call their Mary Kay consultant for a headshot. But, you took service over and above.

There are no words for the gratitude I feel for the care you showed for two days you spent for my headshot.

The first day we prepared the skin with a cleansing and toning facial. Then we had some good fun selecting the right colors for my skin. Your selections of colors, shades and shadows made me realize this is a professional business.

You raised the bar when you opened up your facial artist brushes and shared tips on creating cheek bones with shading and highlights. In fact, I like the shading and highlights so much, that I have incorporated them into my daily routine.

Linda, I think you have something here that women can use before they get a headshot.

I wish you all the success.

With Gratitude,

Archana Patel
