Dear Linda,

I wanted to thank you for your help in selecting a gift for my one male employee, Mark. He is a special one because he's been with me the longest. He's my right hand and muscle when I need it. Mark is a little unusual in that I never have to check on him. He's so independent and always says Ms. Brenda you don't have to do any extra for me just pay me. That's all I need. I told Linda I wanted to take him to lunch and bless him with something also. Linda's idea of hand and shave cream was so on point. Mark's hands had become so chapped due to cold weather and the latex gloves we have to wear were keeping his hands so dry that the skin was cracking and rough. I didn't realize that Mark had sensitive skin so he didn't shave much either. Linda's rescue treatment worked. He was so surprised and pleased that I thought of him. Linda next time I have a person that's out of the ordinary that I want to give a gift to I'll call you.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Brenda Malik", is written over the typed name.
