Dear Donna;

Many, many Kudos to you.

As the top realtor in the Atlanta Metro area, it is so valuable for me to know a roofing expert like you. Because you continually vet the five roofing companies that you recommend, you actually make my work schedule easier every day, saving me time and effort and money. Your brokering process saves my clients a lot of research time and money too.

I applaud you for choosing only companies that have their own high levels of liability insurance and workmen's compensation insurance. We both know that not all roofing companies are created equal. Verifying and monitoring the work ethic of each roofing company is so important. Knowing that the crews will install each roof to accepted standards and then clean up the site entirely when done is very reassuring to me and my clients.

Your eight years of roofing experience and expertise is huge. The broker concept works well for you and referral clients like me. Brokering allows you to match the right shingle, the right warranty, and the right price to every homeowner; it is absolutely a win / win for everyone.

After now having worked with you on the Brandon Cove home, I am confident that each company that you promote will see that the project is done right from beginning to end. The new owner is thrilled with the new roof, and that makes me and you look like heroes.

Thank you Donna!
