Dear Joe:

Thank you so much for your advice on the two agreements I recently signed.

You asked some challenging questions that made me re-evaluate my decisions. It was important that you looked at the licensing agreement from the perspective of future intellectual property rights. I also appreciated that you called someone with expertise in employee leasing to verify the reputation of the company I was considering.

I'm happy to report that, three months later, both relationships are working out as well as I had hoped! Your thorough review and insights continue to contribute to my peace of mind in making these business-altering alliances.

Sincerely,

Lynda Martin
