

Lynn Spencer
Killingsworth Spencer LLC
10892 Crabapple Road, Suite 100
Roswell, GA 30075

I've had the same accountant for several years for my business and personal taxes. He has recommended to me several times that I might want to get someone to do my bookkeeping services.

As my practice has grown, I finally surrendered that I needed help with bookkeeping. Lynn assured me that it would be an easy transition for me to hand over to her team, and that it was perfectly okay that I had someone different for my taxes.

Last year was the first year KillingsworthSpencerLLC had taken care of my books. I had forgotten to tell my accountant about this and he exclaimed that I had done an absolutely beautiful job with bookkeeping and everything was so nicely organized and easy to understand. I simply could not take the credit for all that. I told him I hired KillingsworthSpencerLLC to do my bookkeeping and he was very pleased. That means that this year, instead of sending all my printed bank statements, I only needed December and January because KillingsworthSpencerLLC was taking care of balancing my accounts throughout the year.

I then decided to send both of my daughters over to KillingsworthSpencerLLC for their personal taxes and for their Trust accounts. The team kept excellent communication with me and my daughters, as well as a lot of patience as this was a new enterprise for us with the Trust accounts. This meant the world to me as I was quite anxious about handling the Trusts. They kept me calm and informed, assuring me about the process.

Thank you so much, Lynn, for your team's efforts in calming such a nervous mom and nervous business owner when it comes to bookkeeping. I no longer dread handing over my taxes because I know your team has balanced everything beautifully for me.

Sincerest thanks,

Dr. Cynthia Seebacher, D.C.