

To the attention of
Scott Levine
InTown Financial
Atlanta, GA

I moved to Atlanta in order to open US operations for a British business. As such, the tax laws and requirements were new to me. To ensure compliance I needed a CPA who would help me learn the ropes but also get all the tax and reporting work off of my desk.

Scott Levine and the group at Intown Financial did just that.

They managed my bookkeeping and provided the monthly reports I requested, always making time to adapt as my needs changed and explain whatever was unclear to me. Whenever a new letter from a state government department landed on my desk, I knew I could forward it on to Scott who would explain the implications and also take care of any outstanding issues.

I could rest assured that things were getting done to deadline, and also that I understood what was being required and why.

Many thanks to Scott and his colleagues for taking the time to work with me, my UK colleagues and all our cross-jurisdictional needs over the years.
