Saurel Quettan is an excellent business consultant who comes to consult on any issue with a ton of heart, desiring to create solutions that will resolve issues, increase revenue potential and improve relationships amongst co-workers. I want to write about just one of my experiences with Saurel as my business consultant.

I called Saurel in a bit of a panic one day after realizing that a conversation I had with a co-worker had caused a riff that I was not sure how to heal so we could move forward. Saurel, took time out of his busy schedule to meet me that very day for a two-hour coaching session. During that session, Saurel listened deeply to my situation, masterfully walked me through creating an intention for my next conversation with my co-worker as well as a long-term intention moving forward. He was even able to supply me with words I could use that would allow my co-worker to hear my intentions and to create accountability to our new relationship moving forward for both of us.

Saurel's coaching, helped me repair that relationship and move forward in a powerful way. It also gave me excellent perspective to help me become a better people leader. Thank you, Saurel, for helping me and my business to continue to grow and be successful.

All my best,
